COMLUX COMPLETES ITS FIRST ACJ320NEO CABIN INTERIOR

Comlux is pleased to announce that Comlux Completion, its completion & service center based in Indianapolis, has just achieved the cabin interior outfitting of an ACJ320neo, the first one of the type completed by the facility.

Despite Covid-19 situation, the outfitting program continued in compliance with the safety measures implemented in the facility since March 2020, and the aircraft was delivered successfully to an undisclosed customer.

The VVIP cabin features an extremely detailed and sophisticated design providing a cosy yet elegant atmosphere through a succession of private rooms. The rear of the aircraft offers lots of space and comfort for executive guests and entourage when flying long range trips. Among the key features installed by Comlux, the KA band system allows ultra high-speed internet access up to 50 Mbps throughout the complete VIP cabin.

Two more ACJ320neo are currently in completion in Comlux Indianapolis facilities. The second aircraft will be delivered in Spring 2021. The third aircraft, which is belonging to a customer of DC Aviation Group, will be delivered in Autumn 2021. A fourth ACJ320neo will arrive in April 2021 in Indianapolis to start its VIP cabin completion process.

Daron Dryer, CEO Comlux Completion said” Despite the challenging situation we have been facing during the last 6 months because of Covid-19, our teams remained more than ever motivated and focused on delivering exceptional quality performance on our first ACJ320neo completion. With 2 more aircraft of the type in outfitting process right now, and more to come soon, Comlux is becoming The Completion center of reference for the ACJneo family aircraft.”
