ABOUT FLY FIVE

The ACJ TwoTwenty is a dare-to-be-different jet, equipped with Pratt & Whitney engines and a cabin that has been engineered and designed to make it the first of its kind. The spacious cabin boasts all the conveniences of modern luxury living, but in the sky.

Technology engineers at Comlux developed the most advanced cabin available today with streaming high-speed connectivity capability combined with luxury for contemporary comfort not found in many business aircrafts. Installed throughout the cabin, smart technology touchscreens provide all the comfort and conveniences right at your fingertips. The electro-chromatic window shades offer passengers unparalleled panoramic views of the world below, and full LED lighting is installed to perfectly customize the look and feel of the cabin, hour to hour and mile to mile to the passengers' liking and unique tastes. The primary suite has been transformed to embrace a serene setting with a king-sized bed and spa-like shower for the ultimate experience in luxurious travel. Finally, the cabin features two ultra-large 55 inch screens, giving passengers entertainment that could rival in-home theater experiences.

With over 50% more cabin space, the brand-new cabin is inviting, comfortable and beautiful. Upon entering the cabin, passengers will be transported to an experience unlike anywhere else in the world. Each of their senses was delighted and invigorated by the feel of the plush seating, clean lines and high-level finishes that are prominent throughout the cabin.
